Dedication

Clark Underwood

With sincere and grateful appreciation of the devoted service which he has rendered for twenty-five years, the pupils of our school dedicate this number of the annual to Mr. Underwood.

For a quarter of a century, Mr. Underwood--"Shorty"--as we all call him--has spent countless hours making school life more comfortable, happier, and profitable for Lodi's youth. Undoubtedly he doesn't remember the numberless little things that he has done for us, but remembrance should be our duty.

How often he has sighed when he saw the floors covered with bits of paper, mud from our shoes, and the loosened bolts of our "squeaky" desks, or when he heard the complaints about the temperature of our rooms! What pleasure he has had jesting with the good natured pupils! He too has appreciated our kind and thoughtful little deeds as well as we have his.

The grade teachers were: Miss O'Hara, Miss Kline, Miss Pelton, Mrs. Yost, Miss Evelyn Vanasdal, Mrs. Weimer, Miss Wilford, Miss Bernice Vanasdal, Miss Edwards, and Miss Blust.

HIGHLIGHTS:

The Junior-Senior Banquet of 1938 was held at Bunker Hill and we paid the bill.

The Junior Class Play, "Hobgoblin House", had an all-star cast including Robert Tanner, Ruth Konrad, Maxine Brunson, Victor McEnroe, Althea Hughes, Ernest Rowland, Helen Yoder, Donald Whitright, Christine Hofstetter, Dale Hastings, Stanley Grimm, and Maryan March.

The Junior-Senior Banquet of 1939 found the class of "39" as the honored guests.

The Senior Class Play, "Going on Seventeen", featured the following students: Christine Hofstetter, Donald Whitright, Myrtis Bowman, Maxine Brunson, Robert Tanner, Dale Hastings, Ernest Rowland, Edgar Hoge, Ruth Konrad, Althea Hughes, Philip Rice, Twila Darr, Lottie Summerton, Beryl Lance, Victor McEnroe, and Maryan March.

Phil's bicycle ride through the hall.

Many of the occasions, such as the teacher's annual trip to Cleveland, George Washington's birthday, Thanksgiving, Christmas, and the scarlet fever quarantine, added to the enjoyment of this class of "39".

Graduation for most of the members of the class.

LOWLIGHTS:

Ruth Konrad's ability to play baseball.

Many detention hall slips and excuse blanks had to be endured.

Grade card time always brought a few headaches, because once in a while, some of the grades were near that pretty, red line.

Every time someone suffered with a cold or a tummyache on Saturday or Sunday, they lost it by Monday.

Winner of faculty geranium for poorest assembly program in 1938.

FANCIES:

Little Ernie Rowland, tears splashing down his cheeks, was forced to sit with Beryl Lance in the fourth grade.

Helen Yoder's kiss was most graciously placed on the cheek of Red Rice during senior assembly.

The love affairs of the Lodi senior girls and the Homer alumni boys were simply heart-breaking.

Tootie's attempt was futile in trying to win Fritzie's heart.

Several senior boys made daily trips to Seville and not to see the town!!!??????

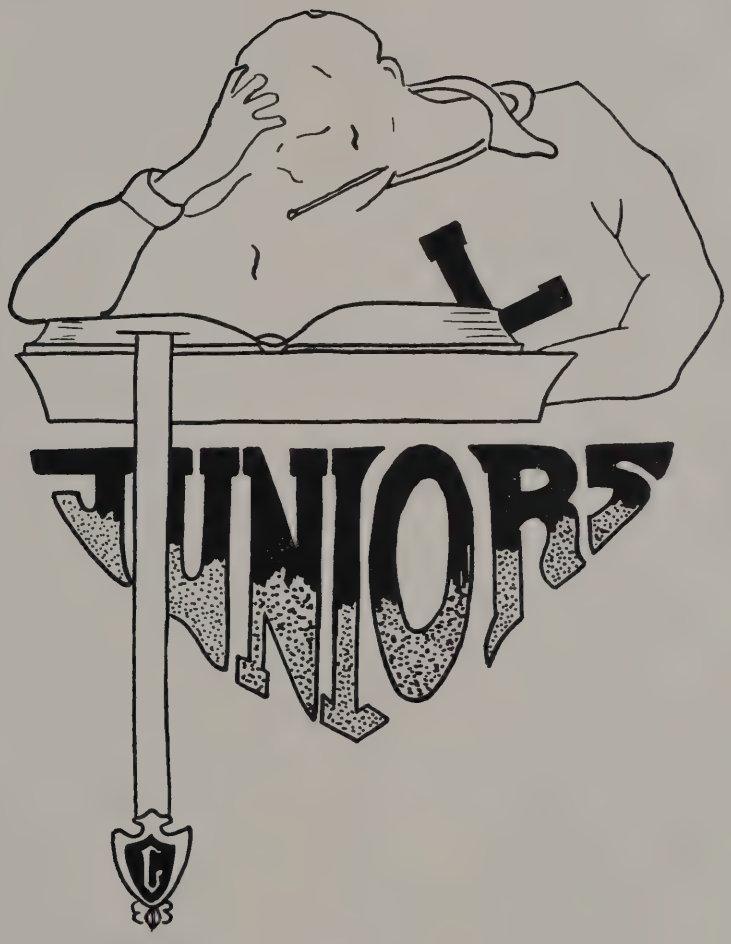

Stanley's weakness for visiting Seville girls.

Marie Farner taught "Noony" the type of French she used.

Hollis Knapp considered himself the "Romeo" of the class, because of his remarkable ability to get dates.

THE JUNIORS

Has Lodi got class!
What class?
The Junior Class!!!

That's right. The Junior Class, which is one of the "go-gettin'est" classes on record, shows a marked spirit of agressiveness and ability. They pride themselves especially on their representation in every extra-curricular activity--and justly so. This class has also maintained a high scholastic standing, partly because of good-natured competition, and partly because they are just naturally endowed with what it takes. The following have participated in the annual scholarship and commercial contests: Walter Bowman, Grace Seeley, Edna Addis, Sara Funk, William Grannis, Mary Alice Snell, Harold Garberich, Laura DeVoe, Jack Sommer, Dorothy Oswald, James Peterson, Mary Stancin, Dorothy Mace. Several of these competed in the district tests at Kent also.

This class, which started as a group of twenty-three bewildered and bewildering six year olds, has gradually increased in size until it now numbers forty-eight. Of these, ten are from Lafayette.

In their Freshman year--with their high school careers just begun, they elected as their president, William Grannis. In their Sophomore year they elected Grace Seeley, and this year they again displayed their sound judgment by electing Walter Bowman.

There are two outstanding events in the life of every Junior -- the Junior class play and the Junior-Senior banquet. This year's play, "Girls Will Be Boys", was well directed by Miss Dorothy Tittle and it potently displayed the dramatic talents of the cast. Although the prom is yet to come, there have been rumors that it is to be the best one in years.

In the social life of the school, the Juniors certainly do not take a back seat. In art, the outstanding exponents are: Wayland Fetzer, Harold Garberich, Dorothy Mace, Helen Gyure, Alex Czeiter; in athletics -- Junior Jamison, Charles Rice, Harold Chapman, Jack Schaeffer; and in music-Grace Seeley, Dorothy Mace, Vivian Gossard, Gusti Winkler. The Junior class has also been well represented in oratory, debate, dramatics, and many clubs. If you doubt it, just glance through this book and see for yourself. Are you convinced?

REMINISCENCES

Edna Addis -- "Hey Dot! Do I have an inspiration for my debate speech!"
Ruth Alexander -- Silence is golden.
Shirley Bell -- Hurry with that Latin!
Alberta Bloch -- "Bride of Quietness"
Walter Bowman -- "Blue eyes and blonde hair--you've got somethin' there!"
Harold Chapman -- "Nice sax quartette, isn't she?"
Betty Curry -- "Oh, that red hair!"
Alex Czeiter -- Meditative Artist.
Laura DeVoe -- "More fun!"
Irene Dearth -- "Oh gee!"
Lenore Falconer -- Heroine of the Yale-Princeton game.
Wayland Fetzer -- "Just call me Dauntless, Star, or Hot-shot."

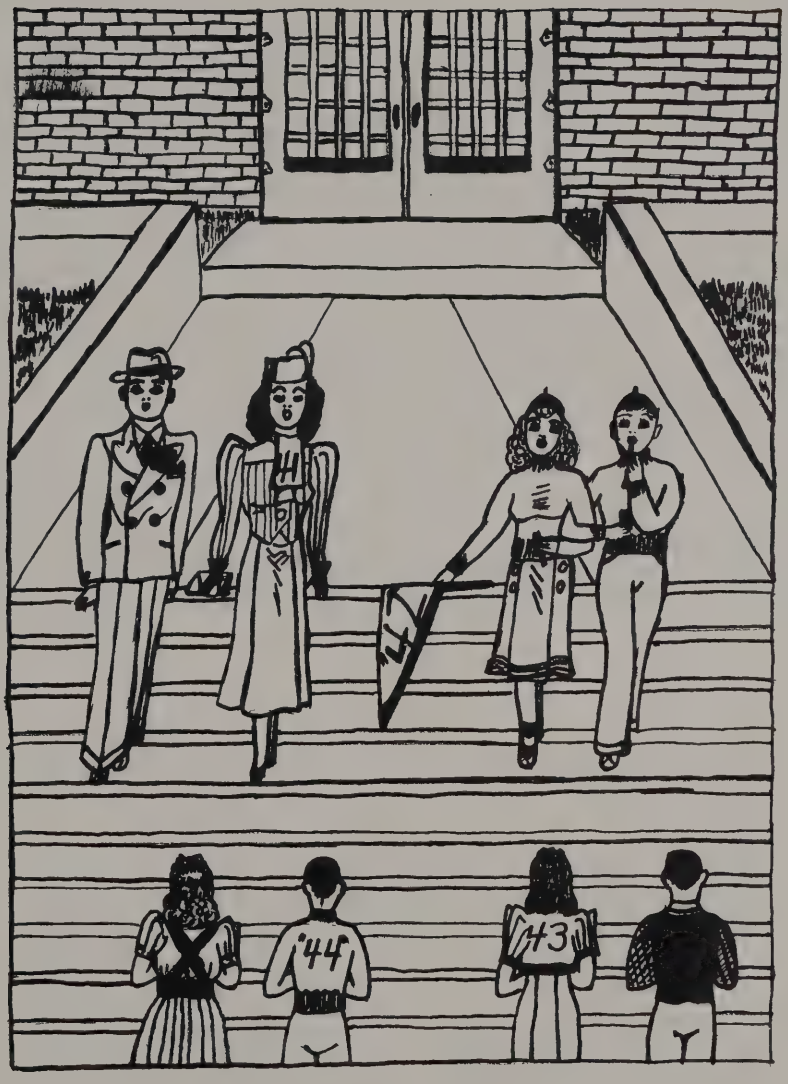

Phyllis Fuller -- "Gee, county orchestra is fun!"
Sara Funk -- Best business manager in town!
Harold Garberich -- "Just call me Lightning!"
Helen Gaynor -- She's a good basketball guard.
Charles Gorey -- "I don't know."
Leroy Gorey -- "Ditto"
Vivian Gossard -- The grapevine system personified!
Bill Grannis -- I sure like to go to LeRoy - (Scout Band, ya' know)
Marian Grimm -- "Do I like Dairy-Dell!"
Helen Gyure -- "Did you see my new clarinet?"
Wayne Hall -- Gentlemen prefer blondes--especially one.
Marjorie Hastings -- "Whiz! Here I was!"
Georgia Hutton -- "Those noon strolls are invigorating!"
Junior Jamison -- "Did you see me make that basket?"
Eleanor Lutsch -- "I met such a loquacious person she left me speechless."
Dick Leatherman -- "I got China on my radio last night!"
Margaret Lowrey -- "Have you got your French?"
Dorothy Mace -- "Did ya' notice that my hair's turning slightly pink?"
Anne Nomisnick -- A "whiz-diz" in shorthand.
Dorothy Oswald -- "Miss Malcolm Campbell"
James Peterson -- "Oh boy! Can I type!!"
Rose Reynolds -- "I was a bridesmaid."
Charles Rice -- "This basketball stuff is hard on my night life."
Jack Schaeffer -- "Likewise!"
Grace Seeley -- She can cook, boys--believe it or not!
Dick Sewell -- "History? Oh, I slept through that."
Mary Alice Snell -- "Eat at John's"
Jack Sommer -- "Do I like French!"
Mary Stancin -- "How do you like my type (ing)?"
Stephana Stancin -- "Don't you like my curls?"
Herschel Taylor -- Cute but not good looking!
Alyce Unangst -- "How much shorthand have you for today?"
Gloyd White -- Air-minded.
Ruth Wilson -- "Wish I could type!"
Gusti Winkler -- "Oh, there goes a test tube!"
Grace Egner -- Can she cook?

Various classes have afforded great pleasure during the years, fr'-instance:

Miss Garbison -- "Report to detention hall for two hours tomorrow."
Miss Hutton -- "You will write out all the questions from now on."
Mr. Cochran -- "Go slowly at first, girls!"
Mr. Hurd -- "Let's get down to work now, boys" (after a certain visitor left class)
Miss Tittle -- "Jack, vous etes un parasseux"
Mr. Heim -- "It's actually an example of ....."
Mr. Blain -- "Alright, let's get quiet!"
Mr. Bowland -- "The longest way home is the sweetest."
Mr. Graff -- "I'll give you an "A" this time but you really deserve ?????
Mr. White -- "Such radical ideas"
Mrs. Behnke -- "At last I've found a true English class."
Miss Mowrey -- "Did you bring your excuse?"
Miss Baumann -- "Well, I don't know about that."
Mr. Mosher -- "Gee I'm a terrible coach--my team lost a game this year."

Hilltop Echoes

This is the class of 1941 broadcasting over station L.O.D.I.

School opened in Lodi today, September 12, and fifty-six of us fun-loving Sophomores rushed to our headquarters in rooms fourteen and fifteen. Smiling Mr. Mosher greeted us.

Flash! Today, September 19, 1938, our teacher Miss Garbison returned from Europe with a beautiful tan.

Crash! It has been two weeks since school opened. Today the Sophomore class elected the following people as their leaders: president, Jane Warner; vice president, Dick Reynolds; secretary and treasurer, Jean Sommer; student council members, Eileen Warner and Carl Reed.

Flash! -October 31- The Sophomores entertained themselves tonight at a Hallowe'en party. Bob McGarvey drank six glasses of hard cider.

Splash! Merle Seal, Bud Konrad, Junior Marvin, Bob Danals, Bob McGarvey, Wilbur Wood, Wilford Wood, Raymond Tawse, and Eddie Harrington were chosen for this year's reserve basketball team.

Splash! Junior Marvin got Baker Avenue and Bank Street confused. Result: He lost two girls. There are still good fish in the sea, Junior.

Flash! The girls of Lodi High School, not to be outdone by the boys, have formed a Girls' Athletic Association under the direction of Miss Garbison. Jane Warner, Ann Bartholomai, Norma Rickel, Ruth Beu, and Jean Sommer have joined this organization.

Flash! Our reserve team lost its first game to Brunswick's reserves.

Flash! Yale beat Princeton today. On the winning team were Eileen Warner and Jane Warner; on the "bulldog's" side were Ann Bartholomai, Jean Sommer and Ruth Beu.

Flash! February 11, 1939 the basketball season ended. The Lodi Reserves emerged triumphant, losing but one game; thus winning the county championship.

Flash! March 31. - Most of the Sophomore girls saw Grace Moore in the opera "Manon" today in Cleveland.

Flash!! April 10, 1939. The Sophomore class presented its annual assembly program. It consisted of a poem, "Otto and His Auto", by Edith Rothstein; a shadow play, "The Fate of Slim Lou"; musical selections, the most outstanding of which was the boys' sextet composed of several members and led by the mighty bass, Robert McGarvey; acrobatics under the direction of Mr. Mosher concluded our program. The Sophomore boys' sextet received the Faculty geranium for the "best" assembly performance of the year.

Flash! April 13. The class of 1941 was represented at the County Scholarship contest by Jean Sommer, Eleanor Grannis, Edith Rothstein, Edward Harrington, and Jane Warner.

Flash! May 25. Groans were heard in rooms fourteen and fifteen as we were undergoing the ordeal of final examinations.

Double Flash! June 1. We all passed!! -- or most of us! This event brings our Sophomore year to a close, so station L.O.D.I. is now signing off until next fall when we shall continue to bring you news of the class of 1941.

Chorus and Glee Clubs

MUSIC IN LODI

The above group represents the mixed chorus, boys' glee club and girls' glee club. One of the outstanding achievements of the year was the presentation of the "Mikado" by members of these organizations. During the past few years chorus work at the Lodi school has been carried on in a fine way. Groups from our school have received excellent recognition in county and sectional festivals. These organizations are directed by Mrs. Hobart and Mrs. Schmidt.

Lodi is also proud of its ensembles, its orchestra, and its band. At the present time, the orchestra is made up of thirty-nine players, with well-balanced orchestrations. During the year this group furnished music for class plays, community gatherings, and assembly programs.

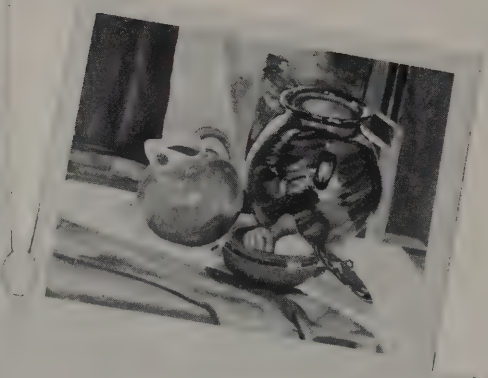

The Lodi High School band is made up of sixty members. This group gives many concerts in the course of a year. Each summer for the past several years the Lodi business men have employed this band to furnish concerts, and with the money from this source, the band has been able to purchase uniforms. Delmar Graff is the director of the band and the orchestra.

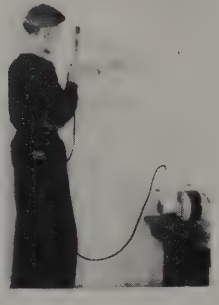

Music of the Lodi school is a part of the Medina County music system. This county has won national recognition for its most excellent music program which offers instruction from grades one to twelve in all phases of public school music.

HISTORY OF LODI HIGH SCHOOL

Education in Lodi dates back to 1817, when a small log school house was erected on the Timothy Burr farm. This property now belongs to Mr. G. P. Mong of Lodi. In the "good old days" the principal studies were readin', 'ritin', and 'rithmetic. Miss Diadema Churchill and a Mr. Timothy were among the first teachers to instruct the children, numbering from four to eight at a time.

During the years which followed it became necessary to divide the township into four or five school districts. Four one-room school houses and a two-room school house were constructed within the township. A little later, by virtue of an act passed by the Ohio Legislature on April 9, 1867, a special school district was created, embracing the territory within the limits of the town of Lodi.

In the same year a movement to construct an Academy in Lodi was started by Mr. Henry Ainsworth with a subscription of $25,000.00. An old apple orchard was purchased for the site, and the building was completed in 1871. A Boarding Hall, now the Sanford Apartments, was constructed to house the pupils.

The school was short-lived due to post-Civil War conditions. Professor Haskins was the first principal; he was followed by Professor H. N. Miller, Reverend McIntyre, and Professor W. R. Grannis. In the spring of 1878 the school was closed for an indefinite time.

In April, 1879 the question of purchasing the academy building for the use of a union school was submitted to the voters of Lodi Special School District; the issue carried by an overwhelming majority. John Warren, T. G. Loomis, and E. W. Minns were elected directors of the district at the same election. The building, which had originally cost $25,000.00 was sold to the town for $5,000.00.

In the year 1879 the State Department of Education chartered the first high school in Harrisville Township, and the school opened September 2, with Mr. S. S. Thomas as Superintendent. Four years later the first class to be graduated from the newly established school received its diplomas. A very interesting incident concerning this class was that they celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of this first commencement on May 26, 1933 at the regular high school commencement exercises. At This time, fifty years after their graduation, all members were living, four of them being present on the occasion. The members of this class were: Elizabeth Warren, Jennie Redfield Miner, George M. Gilbert, Charles Palmer, and P. C. Fullerton. Mrs. Jeannette Persons, a teacher of this first class, was also present.

In 1914, because of crowded conditions, a modern building was erected in front of the old Academy. The old building was remodeled, wired for electricity, and improved to insure proper ventilation. The auditorium was converted into a gymnasium.

Between 1910 and 1920 a great consolidation movement took place in Ohio; from time to time one-room schools in the outlying districts were closed and pupils were taken by horse-drawn vehicles to the central school at Lodi. Many of the living residents of Lodi can relate interesting experiences of incidents which took place while riding to and from school on these vans. At the present, all transportation is by motor bus.

Because of the increase in enrolment, the construction of a new building was started in 1920 and completed in 1921. This new building affords all modern high school conveniences, with its fine new gymnasium, auditorium, home economics room, and chemistry and physics laboratories. The cost of this building was $120,000.00. The members of the Board of Education at this time were: E. A. Rowland, C. M. Crum, I. F. Williams, C. L. Briggs, and Mrs. Clarice Whitacre.

The curriculum and course of study at the Lodi school has kept pace with modern trends in education. The faculty has grown in number until at the present time it consists of eighteen full-time teachers and five part-time county teachers on the staff. Lodi High School has a reputation for high scholarship and standards. In county scholarship tests Lodi has won first place for the last six years. New courses in the school which have become very popular during the past few years are: science, music, art, home economics, industrial arts, physical education, and commercial courses.

In 1931 the Lafayette Board of Education started to send its high school pupils to the Lodi school rather than to Medina for their high school training. This brought about an increase of about fifty each year in the senior high school. In 1938 the enrolment had grown until Lodi graduated fifty seniors in one year. At the present time there are about five hundred students in the Lodi school.

It may be interesting to our readers to know the names of the men who have served as superintendents of the Lodi school. Following Mr. S. S. Thomas in the position of superintendent was Mr. Lee, who filled this position for two years. Then came B. F. Hoover, who filled the superintendency for ten years. Next in the procession was F. G. Mauer, who served for two years. F. M. Plank and Mr. Elliott each served in this capacity for one year. After Mr. Elliott, J. F. Smith served as superintendent for ten years. For the next five years P. H. Smith was head of the school. Then came C. A. Hostettler and later J.B. Hughes, who acted as superintendent for three years. He was succeeded by R. B. Snell, who served for five years. Today the school is under the leadership of H. A. White, who is serving his tenth year in this capacity.

The Right Appeal

Sometimes school representatives forget their job is one of educational guidance and become just solicitors. They talk of getting jobs instead of getting ready for jobs. They brag what expert job-getters their placement departments are. This appeal is a false one, designed to catch the unwary—those not aware of the facts.

Two factors determine whether the graduate of any school will get a job—ability and personality. Both are the product of the right kind of training—the kind of training you get at Wooster Business College, where teacher interest and attention is emphasized.
